We Mean Business

Team bonding experiences and conference facilities in the stunning Kielder Water & Forest Park. While other business people stare at plasterboard walls and twiddle with the air-con, you and your team can be throwing axes, scaling walls, whizzing through the air and learning about each other and yourself in a refreshing out of office experience.

At Calvert Kielder we have developed a deep understanding of challenge like no one else. We have been helping disabled people to explore and overcome challenge for over 35 years giving us a unique perspective of the relationship between challenge, learning and living – for anyone.

As a consequence, Calvert Kielder can deliver seriously standout and authentically life-changing experiences for the world's most ambitious and entrepreneurial individuals, groups, businesses and organisations.

Understanding and Reframing 'Challenge' Like No One Else

For years, Calvert Kielder has helped disabled people to reframe disadvantage as the catalyst for overcoming challenge with inventive and inspiring solutions, and not the cause of debilitating barriers.

We believe that this fundamental mindset is invaluable for businesses and business people.

It has taught us to help anyone from anywhere to find the inner strength to explore, meet and very often stride confidently beyond the perceived limits of their ability and authority. Empowering, memorable, belief-busting experiences mean everything to our business clients – and to us.
